800 Pin Series Mark All-Star Doubles Meet

All-Star Doubles tourney comprised of the "cream" of men and women bowlers in Southern California saw some sizzling pin shooting at Palos Verdes Bowl last week.

Marge Fox of Kinney's Nursery put together games of 206-179-210-211 for 806 series. Gwen Hyduke on Certified Scoreboard squad was not far behind with 800. Her games were 212-184-235-135.

Another 800 total was registered by Wayne Crouch of Santa Fe Bowl when he hit tilts of 219-204-190-225 for 835.

Sports Remarks Score With Guys

Want your date to think you're a good sport—and an even better date? Come back with a clever remark when he talks about his favorite game and your sports rating will soar. Here are some lines guaranteed to hit the jackpot on the subjects of golf, baseball, sports cars, tennis and boating:

If he's a golfer, say: "What ever happened to Jack Burke?" Casually implying that you know who Jack Burke is, this is as good as a hole in one. Jack was a top pro who faded out last year because of a hand injury. Name dropping: top pros Arnold Palmer, Art Wall, Gene Littler or Mike Souchak.

If he's a baseball fan, say: "Do you think the Senators will win the pennant this year?" This one is for sheer fun, like asking if Texas will ever get over its inferiority complex. The Senators are traditionally "in the cellar," and the odds of their winning this year's pennant (first place) are 199 to one. "Do you think they really will start a third league?" At present there are two and plans for a third, the Continental league, are completed.

If he loves sports cars, say: "What's happening with Lance Reventlow's car?" Lance is trying to put together the first entirely American-built Grand Prix racing car.

If tennis is his game, say: "Will Barry MacKay ever be world's champion?" He's the American favorite among the "top seeded amateurs." For more name dropping, Charles McKinley, Earl Buchholz and Ron Holmberg are up-and-coming stars. Amateur champions are Neale Fraser of Australia and Maria Bueno of Brazil.

If he's a boatnik, say: "The Harmsworth race is in the bag." We lost this speedboat race last year to Canada—after 39 successive wins. "Who do you think will win the Bermuda-Sweden race?" This is shaping up as one of the most exciting international trans-Atlantic sailing races in history.

OUTDOORS WITH MEL
BY MEL SALTZMAN

Salt water fishing is still great and shows no sign of letting up. Jerry Valek, age 14 of Torrance was fishing on the Sharpshooter out of 22 St. Landing caught 4 yellowtail and 5 barracuda at Catalina Island. The water was alive with yellows of all sizes and over 60 yellows were landed along with lots of log barracuda and bonito. He landed all his fish on 10 pound line and more and more fishermen are lowering the poundage of line and having more fun. His dad landed lots of barracuda but couldn't connect with a yellow. The jackpot at 22 St. landing was broken Sunday with a 32 pound yellow. This is a great time to take a youngster fishing and teach good sportsmanship.

The local fish are still hot one day and cold the next. The fish have finally broke loose at Horseshoe and Huntington Flats with barracuda and bonito providing most of the action along with some yellows and some big halibut. This scattering of the fish has taken some of the pressure off Rocky Point and gives the small boat a better chance at getting fish without hundreds of boats all around him. Redondo Pier is getting some nice halibut and bonito and some barracuda as a bonus.

I spoke to Jim Bradford local sportsman who fishes Lake Isabella every week of the season and he told me that the bass fishing has really broken loose. The fish ran from 3 to over 6 pounds and they jumped 3 to 4 times before coming to net. Lots of Bluegill about a pound with a few Crappie also being taken. Best lures are the Hula Fuls and imitation worms fished slowly. The weather is good and the win hasn't been a problem in the last 2 weekends.

The Salton Sea is producing nice catches of Corvina with some weighing over 12 pounds. Most of the fishermen fish with the small bait fish which are found in the canals but some of the fishermen are finding that large spoons, both chrome and red and white will catch these fish when bait is scarce. The weather is warm and will be really hot in a few weeks so plan a trip now. The freeway makes it a trip of about 2 1/2 to 3 hours.
